100% OF SHELTON'S ADN GRADUATES PASS NCLEX-RN LICENSURE EXAM

For the fourth time in the six years of the program's existence, all of Shelton State Community College's associate degree in nursing graduates have passed the National Council Licensure Examination for Registered Nurses.

The college was notified this week by the Alabama Board of Nursing of the students' 100% pass rate on the NCLEX-RN exam. The purpose of the exam is to ensure that only those individuals who have demonstrated minimum level of competence to provide safe nursing care are granted a license.

According to national statistics, the pass rate on the exam for first time candidates is about 85%, according to Mary Ann Pearson, director of Shelton's nursing program. The exam is given over a two-day period each February and July across the United States. Over the past six years of the program's history, Shelton graduates have attained a 100% pass rate four times and 99% pass rate two times.

MICHIKO K. REED TO EXHIBIT AT SHELTON STATE

MICHIKO REED will exhibit her watercolors at Shelton State library, April 3-21, during regular library hours, Monday - Thursday, 8 a.m. - 10 p.m. and 8 a.m. - 4 p.m. on Friday.

Ms. Reed, a former student at the college, is a native of Japan and worked as a registered nurse until coming to the United States in 1972. She was primarily self-taught until she met professor Richard Brough in a watercolor class at the University of Alabama in 1984.

Attracted by watercolors, Ms. Reed loves the freely floating colors on the paper. She begins most of her work by splashing water on paper, adding colors, and moving the paper all around. Tilting and swinging make the colors take action. When she gets the feeling she wants in the wash, she starts to work on the design. A successful first wash is hard to get in one try. Even if the wash is successful, the design may not go far enough to satisfy her. Unless wash and design are perfect, she starts all over again.
